

A HIGH NOTE ON PALESTINIANS' TRIP

CHILDREN from the Palestinian town of Abu Dis have been in Camden on a trip of a lifetime.

The group has been on a whistle-stop tour of London, including visits to some of the borough's schools.

On Sunday, they entertained an audience at Hampstead Town Hall in Belsize Park when they sang traditional songs from their home town.

The trip has been funded by Camden Abu Dis Friendship Association.

The organisation works to highlight the human rights situation in the town.

Picture by Nigel Sutton

